

ICD Member Benefit: ICD Governance Resource Centre Frequently Asked Questions

Better Directors. Better Boards. Better Business.

What is the ICD Governance Resource Centre?

The Governance Resource Centre (GRC) is a new benefit exclusively for the use of ICD members. The GRC is a comprehensive, searchable database that provides ICD members with access to current articles, research reports, books and other resources on governance issues in the areas of Risk Management, Governance and Corporate Strategy.

The GRC is also linked to other relevant on-line libraries and Web sites where users can access and/or purchase additional governance publications.

Do I need to be an ICD Member to access the GRC?

In order to access the ICD Governance Resource Centre, you must be an ICD Member.

What resources are included in the GRC?

The ICD Governance Resource Centre is committed to providing quality resources including books, articles, reports and additional links. To this end, the ICD Governance Resource Centre includes highly respected resources that are current, topical and timely.

Where do the GRC resources come from?

The Institute of Corporate Directors has supplemented its own subject matter review by our vast network of sponsors and partners (corporate and strategic) from around the world that continue to provide key resources and recommendations that enrich the ICD Governance Resource Centre.

Does the ICD vet the resource material?

Almost all of the resources included in the ICD Governance Resource Centre have been supplied or obtained from a vast network of trusted sponsors and partners from around the world. In addition, the ICD has a growing number of volunteer subject matter experts in the areas of Risk Management, Governance and Corporate Strategy who are all seasoned professionals and/or Directors.

How often is the material updated?

Resources for the ICD Governance Resource Centre are continuously being reviewed and considered for inclusion. For the most part, resources will be added on a daily basis through the Linex Legal RSS Feed and weekly for the main resources section.
