

Institute of Corporate Directors announces appointment of three new Board members

TORONTO – November 24, 2022 – The Institute for Corporate Directors (ICD) announced the addition of three new members to its Board of Directors: Maryse Bertrand, Nora Duke, ICD.D and Anne McLellan, F.ICD. Elected at the Annual General Meeting, held in Toronto on November 23, these individuals will join returning Board members and serve a one-year term.

“Maryse, Nora and Anne are highly regarded business leaders and directors from across the country, who are committed to excellence in governance and will bring passion to support the vital work ICD does to improve trust and confidence in Canadian organizations,” says Linda Hohol, Chair of the ICD Board. “I have the privilege of serving alongside 10 diverse and distinguished directors from across Canada and look forward to continuing our work.”

“Each of these new Board members brings a unique perspective and the same unyielding drive to drive greater dialogue and create a culture of good governance across Canada,” says Rahul Bhardwaj, President and CEO. “As ICD continues to provide its members with a spectrum of services, I look forward to the additional expertise these individuals will offer our team.”

The new appointments fill the vacancies created by the retirements of Yaprak Baltacioglu (March 2022), Mac Van Wielingen, ICD.D (September 2022) and Jo Mark Zurel (November 2022).

Notes Hohol, “As we say farewell to three individuals who dedicated their valuable time not just to the ICD Board, but to significant contributions to boardrooms across the country, I’m fortunate to have had the opportunity to serve alongside these individuals who’ve been strong and dedicated directors.”
